

UNDERSTANDING GASTRONORM

Gastronorm dimensioning indicates the size of the GN containers and is used globally indicating the outer dimension of the containers used in professional kitchens. The basic measure called GN-1/1 is 530 x 325 mm.

All container sizes are measured in relation to this basic measure.

In addition the depth of the pan is specified in millimetres. The Gastronorm standard specifies the pans outer dimension, but no exact mold standard for the corners and the outer sides.

That is why containers made from different manufacturers differ and so lids and containers may not fit together and cannot be stacked if they are manufactured by different manufacturers. The volume also varies slightly.
